

DRINKS

With friends Dictionary Pudding

New joint solo project from Welsh indie-pop darling Cate Le Bon and psychedelic rock musician of White Fence, Tim Presley. DRINKS debut album Hermits on Holiday (Heavenly Records and Birth Records)

Friday 11 September — The Hope & Ruin
Supported by The Soft Walls

Club Abstract

With Towner Art Gallery

Towner Art Gallery and Melting Vinyl team up for a night out! The legendary club night returns to The Towner, all themed with the dynamism of Abstraction. The night is inspired by the current exhibition of the radical abstract artist William Gear. Expect live music, DJs and interactive fun with an Abstract 'dance-off'; an 'Ab-tract' word search around the building; and a 'We are William Gear group artwork'

Girlpool

Philadelphia-based bass-guitar two piece come to Brighton with their playful raw sound; stripped down instrumentation and powerful feminist lyrics. "Girlpool keep things simple, frothing with fear, rage and empowerment" – NME 8/10

Monday 14 September — The Hope & Ruin
Supported by Nai Harvest + lilcraigyboi (DJ)

Saturday September 19 — Towner Gallery, Eastbourne

H Hawline & Gwenno

Pleased to have a fantastic co-headline show with surrealist pop extravaganza H Hawline, and the electropop love from Gwenno (The Pipettes). On H Hawline: "a carousel of wiry weirdo pop" – Guardian 4*. On Gwenno: "Songwriting strong as steel.. melancholy clangs... stabbing like a stilletoe" – JOY COLLECTIVE

Thursday 24 September — Otherplace at the Basement
Support to be announced

Two Gallants

San Francisco Bay Area's cult guitar-drum indie-rock duo Two Gallants return with their latest album 'We Are Undone'. "This stark, dark piece of Americana opens up with each listen" – The Telegraph ****

Friday 9 October — The Haunt
Support to be announced

Rival Consoles

After a packed and much anticipated Great Escape set earlier this year the young pioneering artist returns with his audio-visual extravaganza. London-based producer Ryan Lee West, makes atmospheric, electronic music as Rival Consoles; spanning a wide spectrum of musical ideas.

Tuesday 13 October — The Green Door Store
Support to be announced

Ron Sexsmith

Ontario based singer-songwriter Ron Sexsmith returns with a new album – Carousel One, a warm, deeply involving set of songs that showcases his great empathy and occasional sentimentality, but also his often-overlooked playfulness.

Monday 26 October — Komedia
Support to be announced

C Duncan

Glasgow newcomer C Duncan makes music that combines his love of modern and classical. C's highly anticipated debut LP is formed from lush choral harmonies and acoustic instrumentation, with textures like contemporary dreampop – all recorded in his bedroom studio!

4 November — Otherplace at the Basement
Support to be announced

Julia Holter

Los Angeles-based composer/ multi-instrumentalist Julia Holter blurs the boundaries between indie music, modern composition, and electronic music in her own work as well as collaborations; Julia returns to Brighton with new album – Have You In My Wilderness (out via Domino – September 25th)

9 November — Komedia
Support to be announced

An evening with Alela Diane & Ryan Francesconi

A new and fresh collaboration with critically acclaimed singer-songwriter Alela Diane, and composer, guitarist Ryan Francesconi (Joanna Newsom); the duo have combined to create LP – Cold Moon – a communion of voice and guitar with intangible moods and resonances.

10 November — Komedia
Support to be announced

The Mountain Goats

North Carolina indie-folk three piece The Mountain Goats (Merge Records) return to Brighton with new album Beat The Champ. "The music is fantastically rangy, with discordant strings and jazz piano nuzzling punk-busker guitar." – Rolling Stone

18 November — Komedia
Supported by The Weather Station

Mercury Rev

Avant pop, New York-based Mercury Rev return with their critically revered psych-tinged and beautifully spacey indie music, and new album The Light In You via Bella Union. "Almost every note communicates emotional fragility and nostalgia for lost love, lost youth, lost dreams. Its songs are mournfully orchestral, shivering with woodwind and romantic but unstable strings" – The Guardian 4*

"Symphonic masterpiece" Clash magazine 5*

17 November — Komedia
Supported by Nicole Atkins.
DJ set by Wolf Solent

Built to Spill

Idaho-based Indie-rock band fronted by Dough Martsch, Built to Spill, return to Brighton with their eighth studio album Untethered Moon, finding the middle ground between postmodern, Pavement-style pop and the loose, spacious jamming of Neil Young. "a testament to Martsch's perfectionism" – The Rolling Stone

26 November — Concorde 2
Supported by Disco Doom

Music, music and more music...

2015 has been super fun, and we've continued to have such a huge variety of shows! From the electro-pop talents of duo Sylvan Esso, the booty-shaking bounce of Big Freedia, to the indie noise-pop of the Fireworks... we could go on.

St. George's Church – one of our favourite venues – was also used for the first time this year as a venue for the Great Escape, and we had an amazing three days. The place was packed for the likes of Gaz Coombes, Jane Weaver, Blanck Mass; such an experience!

For the rest of the year we continue on with our love for variety and also supporting new music, especially Brighton.

Don't ever hesitate to get in touch with suggestions and thoughts; it's always great to hear from you!
