Vieux Farka Touré

In association with Zaza

The globe-trotting, genre-bending Touré crafts Malian blues in the rich Songhai tradition of his late father, Ali Farka Touré. Vieux infuses them with his own global influences to create an irresistible Afropop sound all his own.

Wednesday 20 January
— Komedía (Main space)
Support to be announced

Daniel Knox

Chicago-based singer-songwriter, Daniel Knox invites listeners into his twisted world of time travel, abandoned shopping centres; inspired by his time growing up in a slowly fading middle America. "An achingly lovely exercise in vintage, chrome-plated, wood-paneled Americana" – 8/10 UNCUT

Thursday 21 January — The Greys
Support to be announced

The Wainwright Sisters

Sisters Martha and Lucy team up to bring you a musical treat, in honour of their musical lineage; the ever amazing Wainwright family. Their album 'Songs In The Dark' is a dark, mysterious collection all steeped in impactful personal meanings.

Wednesday 27 January
Support to be announced

Air Waves

New York's Nicole Schneit AKA Air Waves (inspired by the title of the Guilded by Voices song) brings her intimate pop songs with energizing hooks but a disarming lack of pretense. Her fictional narratives employ an almost preternatural honesty that feels emotionally naked, exposed, and ultimately relatable.

Sunday 31 January — Prince Albert
Support to be announced

Ezra Furman

Pleased to welcome the return of Illinois rocker and new Bella Union signing Ezra Furman after his show-stopping performance at the Haunt in late 2014! Ezra has had a slow but sure build in the consciousness of the music world, from his work with The Harpoons, to now an ever successful project with his band The Boyfriends, he has had an exhilarating couple of years. "Perpetual Motion People is the restless sound of a genuine one-off in a generic world. 4*" – The Guardian

Thursday 18 February
— Concorde 2
Support to be announced

Villagers

Lout presents

A solo vehicle for Irish singer/songwriter Conor J. O'Brien, Villagers specializes in atmospheric, indie folk/chamber pop that balances youthful exuberance with classic rock and pop.

Friday 12 February
— St George's Church
Support to be announced

Ulrich Schnauss (live)

After his performance at Drill Festival, cult German electronic musician and producer Schnauss (Domino) returns for a headline show, with his unique visually arresting ambient/landscape techno.

Saturday 5 March — The Haunt
Support to be announced

Aidan Knight

Canadian folk troubadour returns with new album 'Each Other' (Full Time Hobby). Knight's penchant for astute observations and personal reflections is a compelling component of his songwriting. He creates a unique mood and atmosphere, challenging yet comforting, steeped in melancholy but with a brittle optimism and ultimately a joyful experience for any true music fan. "Knight goes deep within the psyche of a songwriter and performer in numbers that often veer into another person's perspective." – Exclaim

Sunday 6 March
— Latest Music Bar
Support to be announced

Lewes Psychedelic Festival 2016

In association with Innerstrings

Lewes Psychedelic Festival returns with visuals and music for the senses, in the ancient setting of Lewes and the stunning All Saints Centre.

Sunday 19 March
— All Saints Centre, Lewes

Eliza Shaddad

In association with Loft Sessions

New and upcoming Sudanese-Scottish artist comes to Brighton with her elegant, nimble and bitter-sweet pop songs. Championed by the likes of BBC Radio 1, 2 and 6, Shaddad creates powerful music with a unshing conviction.

Wednesday 30 March
— Green Door Store

Trembling Bells

In association with Terrace Cred

Glaswegian's free-floating psychedelic folk meets post rock collective project headed by drummer Alex Neilson, return with their latest album "The Sovereign Self"; a dynamic, evocative collection of songs.

Tuesday 12 April — Komedía
Support to be announced

Liima

Having fun / Dictionary Pudding

New band of Finnish percussionist Tatu Rönkkö with Mads Brauer, Casper Clausen and Rasmus Stolberg of Efterklang. Since 2003, Efterklang have been at the forefront of musical exploration, through electronica, experimental pop and contemporary classical music.

Saturday 16 April — Patterns
Support to be announced

Explosions in the Sky

Austin-based instrumental post-rock quartet known for atmosphere, cinematic compositions drawing from a number of sonic sources, return with their powerful live performances.

Sunday 24 April
— Brighton Dome (Concert Hall)
Support to be announced

The Great Escape

The Great Escape returns for its eleventh year. This will be the second year for the stunning looking and sounding St. George's Church after last year's creative and 'wow' factory line up of Gaz Coombes, Jane Weaver, Rival Consoles and Blanck Mass (see you there!)

Thursday 19 – Saturday 21 May
— St George's Church

Music, music and more music...

January kicks off with some Malian blues from Vieux Farka Toure, to some American landscape-y folk with Daniel Knox.

A lot more confirmations are coming in fast, with The Great Escape returning to St. George's Church this year; and Explosions in the Sky headlining the Dome for the first time.

Don't ever hesitate to get in touch with suggestions and thoughts; it's always great to hear from you!
